Introduction

These standing orders are based upon the Model Standing Orders released by National Association of Local Councils (NALC) in 2018. They have been revised by NALC in 2022. There are also local variations to the Model Standing orders that reflect decisions by Ilminster Town Council to introduce their own local variations. These changes have been brought to members for their ratification.

What are “Standing orders “

Standing orders are the written rules of a local council. Standing orders are essential to regulate the proceedings of a meeting. The Council may also use standing orders to confirm or refer to various internal organisational and administrative arrangements. The standing orders of the council are not the same as the policies of the council but standing orders may refer to them.

Local councils operate within a wide statutory framework. NALC model standing orders, upon which these are based, incorporate and reference many statutory requirements to which the councils is subject. It is not possible for the model standing orders to contain or reference all the statutory or legal requirements which apply to local councils. For example, it is not practical for model standing orders to document all obligations under data protection legislation. The statutory requirements to which Ilminster Town Council is subject apply whether or not they are incorporated in a council's standing orders.

The standing orders do not include financial regulations. Financial regulations are standing orders to regulate and control the financial affairs and accounting procedures of a local council. The financial regulations, as opposed to the standing orders of Ilminster Town Council, include most of the requirements relevant to the council's Responsible Financial Officer. The Financial Regulations are based upon the Model Financial Regulations proposed by NALC.

April/May 2023 Drafting notes

Standing orders that are in bold type contain legal and statutory requirements. It is recommended that councils adopt them without changing them or their meaning. Standing orders not in bold are designed to help councils operate effectively but they do not contain statutory requirements so they may be adopted as drafted or amended to suit a council's needs.

For convenience, the word “councillor” or “member” is used in standing orders and, unless the context suggests otherwise, includes a non-councillor with or without voting rights.

1. Rules of debate at meetings

- a Motions on the agenda shall be considered in the order that they appear unless the order is changed at the discretion of the chair of the meeting.
- b Whenever viable written reports will be provided to members to consider containing a recommendation(s)
- c Members will debate the matter(s) outlined in the report.
- d The chair calls for a member to put forward a proposal based upon a recommendation(s) within the report.
- e The chair calls for a member to second the proposal. As soon as this happens the proposal will become "The Substantive Motion".
- f A motion (including an amendment) shall not be progressed unless it has been moved and seconded.
- g A motion on the agenda that is not moved by its proposer may be treated by the chair of the meeting as withdrawn.
- h If a motion (including an amendment) has been seconded, it may be withdrawn by the proposer only with the consent of the seconder and the meeting.

- k An amendment shall not be considered unless early verbal notice of it is given at the meeting and, if requested by the chair of the meeting, is expressed in writing to the chair.
- l A councillor may move an amendment to his/her/their own motion if agreed by the meeting. If a motion has already been seconded, the amendment shall be with the consent of the seconder and the meeting.
